Tundra Process Solutions Ltd. is Now Western Canada's Exclusive Tracerco Distributor

Calgary, Alberta – Tundra Process Solutions is pleased to introduce Tracerco into their family of Instrumentation products which further complements our total plant solutions. Tundra will be exclusively offering Tracerco products to all of Western Canada.

Tracerco has been providing and developing solutions for the Canadian Oil Sands for decades. Specifically, having reengineered their award winning TRACERCO Profiler™ for applications in thermal recovery and heavy oil. Tracerco is now able to give real time measurement of all the phases (sand, water, emulsion, foam, gas phase etc) up to 150 measurement points, in any of the separation processes in these industries. When radar will not work because of foam, or were capacitance will not work due to build up, Tracerco has the solution.

Additional Tracerco process diagnostic services include tower gamma scanning, pipe blockage detection, exchanger leak testing, flow rate measurement, and distribution studies.

Glenn Hetherington from Tracerco says; “To complement our rapid development into these markets and ensure we have full commitment to our customers, we are extremely pleased to be teaming up with Tundra Process Solutions to represent our products and services. Tundra who is a total solutions provider will truly complement our solutions and together we can now give our customers the full support they deserve”.

“Tundra is very excited to add Tracerco to our growing line. We at Tundra consider ourselves unique. No one else has our diversification of products,” says Dan Peet Tundra’s President.
